Macomb County's Golden Corridor: Developments Along Hall Road

One of the fastest growing and most active areas for retail development in southeast Michigan has been along the Hall Road corridor, which extends from Sterling Heights and Utica on the west to Shelby, Macomb, Clinton, and Chesterfield townships on the east. As these surrounding areas grow in population, retail developments are emerging and have become popular destinations for shoppers from all over the metro area.

Currently, M-59 (Hall Road) is undergoing a construction project that will last through 2018. The Michigan Department of Transportation is investing $63 million to reconstruct 3.7 miles of thoroughfare. The project includes laying new pavement and improving drainage, traffic operations, and pedestrian access in six communities from east of M-53 to Romeo Plank. Enhanced landscaping and other aesthetic improvements are planned, as well. The concrete pavement is being replaced with asphalt and is expected to last 20-25 years. Asphalt is not only cheaper and easier to repair, but also provides better safety for vehicles against snow and skidding.

This two-year project is expected to produce several beneficial enhancements for the surrounding areas by improving stability and traffic flow.

Businesses along Hall Road, which will be open and accessible during construction, are likely to take a 10 to 25 percent hit in sales during construction, according to real estate consultant Ken Dalto, founder and owner of Farmington Hills-based Kenneth J. Dalto & Associates. Despite the inevitable losses, Dalto says there are steps businesses can take to ease the bottom line.

“Retailers have to announce sales to attract shoppers — make their marketing more focused, whether it’s through mailings or eBlasts,” Dalto said. “They also need to get the word out on the status of construction — especially that construction is going to be halted during Christmas — because people aren’t going to automatically know that.

“They also have to keep discounting. The loss of sales is going to be greater than the loss of discounting,” Dalto said. “Shoppers change their habits. They’ll go elsewhere. You don’t want to lose these people permanently.”

Hall Road has two malls: Lakeside Mall, at 1,550,540 square feet; and The Mall at Partridge Creek, at 640,000 square feet. The Mall at Partridge Creek, an open-air regional shopping center in Clinton Township, opened Oct. 18, 2007. It’s anchored by Nordstrom, Carson’s, and MJR Digital Cinema 14, and has nearly 90 unique stores and restaurants.

Home Depot, Lowes, and other big box retailers including Meijer, Target, and Costco, along with numerous other national and regional retail businesses, are also positioned along both sides of Hall Road.

Cabela's/Chesterfield Town Center under construction

New development includes the Chesterfield Town Center, which is set to open this summer at I-94 and Hall Road. Cabela’s will be the anchor store for the $100 million open-air mall development. According to the site plans submitted to Chesterfield Township, Chesterfield Town Center will have 80-90 national retailers. Thomas Guastello, owner of Center Management of Birmingham, told the Macomb Daily that he expects the center to include a hotel, restaurant, movie theater, grocery store, and some smaller retailers, known as “junior boxes,” as opposed to the big box stores that usually accompany shopping centers.

Other upcoming changes in Macomb County's "Golden Corridor" include the addition of three new restaurants: Twin Peaks is taking over the location once occupied by Logan's Roadhouse in Shelby Township; Bubba's 33 sports eatery in Macomb Township will be on the north side of Hall Road across from Partridge Creek; and BJ's Brewhouse Restaurant will be in the former Linens N' Things next to Andiamo's Sterling Heights, which is celebrating its 12th year at the Hall Road location.

Retailers at newer shopping centers include Jersey Mike's, Supercuts, Sleep Number, Starbucks, Menchie's, AT&T, and Panda Express.

Among the retailers making their debut along the Golden Corridor are Duluth Trading Co. and Menards; Dick's Sporting Goods has moved to a newly constructed build-to-suit location east of Schoenherr. Several new developments, as well as a new Nissan dealership, are also in the works. Other construction includes a Genisys Credit Union, and a former Henderson Glass shop is being renovated into an urgent care facility.

Asking rental rates vary greatly along the Golden Corridor, and typically range from $12 to $45 per square foot. The newer retail developments are capturing higher rents.

New retail centers' actual rental rates range from $26 to $45 per square foot, with an average of $30.88 per square foot, according to Siegle & Associates' database; however, second- and third-generation spaces generally rent for an average of $13.64 per square foot. Siegle & Associates has appraised a number of retail centers and office developments along this corridor, as its offices are located just one mile south of the epicenter of this retail mecca.

So far, 2017 has already surpassed previous years in terms of net absorption along Hall Road.

There has been a net absorption of 105,768 square feet in the previous 12 months. More than 75 percent of new construction is pre-leased.

Vacancy rates for the Hall Road corridor are currently between 6 and 7 percent. This is low for retail space, especially considering the amount of new construction in the area.

Even though the Golden Corridor seems to have it all, there is plenty of room for future development and, with just under 90,000 motorists traveling Hall Road daily (projected to reach 96,000 to 100,000 motorists per day by 2037, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation), the high visibility and access is promising for many businesses.

Located just one mile south of the Golden Corridor, Siegle & Associates is well-acquainted with the area and is prepared to meet all appraisal needs. Managing Partner Ken Siegle has lived just two miles north of Hall Road for more than 22 years, and has witnessed the corridor's evolution.
